

Objective

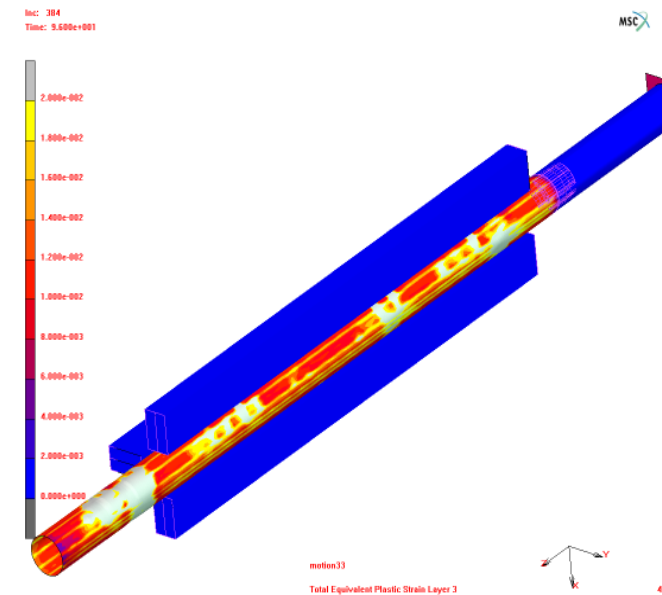

- Improve product quality of pipes during expansion process
- Determination of required stiffness of support structure during the expansion steps

Research topics

Accurate finite element technology for modelling the deformation during expansion of the pipes

Industrial benefits

- Quality improvement and lowering of production cost.

Pipe straightening support – Fontijne Grotnes