

Whether you are a student considering taking a PhD or an experienced researcher looking for a new career opportunity, M2i can offer something for you. Choosing M2i represents an investment in your professional future, developing your talents and increasing your career potential.

Are you looking for a truly international research environment that can provide you with strong connections, links to industry and career opportunities in the Netherlands and elsewhere in Europe? M2i can offer you unique research opportunities. In view of the high standards of our research, M2i is looking for researchers who obtained their Master's or PhD degree with above average results.

We welcome applications from candidates who hold a Master's degree or a PhD in one of the following fields:

- Materials Science and Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering
- Chemistry
- (Applied) Physics
- Chemical Engineering
- Civil Engineering
- Aerospace Engineering
- (Applied) Mathematics
- Building Physics / Building Sciences